THE VOICE OF FOGGY BOTTOM

October 1966

THE FOGGY BOTTOM ASSN.: WHAT IT IS, HOW IT WORKS

The By-Laws of the Association state: "Article II - Objects - 1. The Objects . . . will be to promote the restoration and rehabilitation of Foggy Bottom and to further the civic, cultural, social, and economic welfare of the community."

This year, more than in any other, the FBA is capable of fulfilling those objectives. There is a clear delineation of responsibility (following the "one man, one job" dictum of President Alling Brown), and a gratifying number of new members and workers.

COMMITTEES LISTED

For those of you who did not attend the September meeting (and as a refresher for those of you who did) here is a clarification of the FBA organization and function:

District Affairs: To provide the citizens of the community with an effective voice in obtaining proper administration of government, in general and specific matters.

Membership: To become acquainted with the residents of Foggy Bottom and their problems, and to encourage use of and participation in the Association's services and activities.

Program and Special Events: To provide informative and entertaining programs at monthly and special meetings . . . and to present the community with stimulating social and other Special Events.

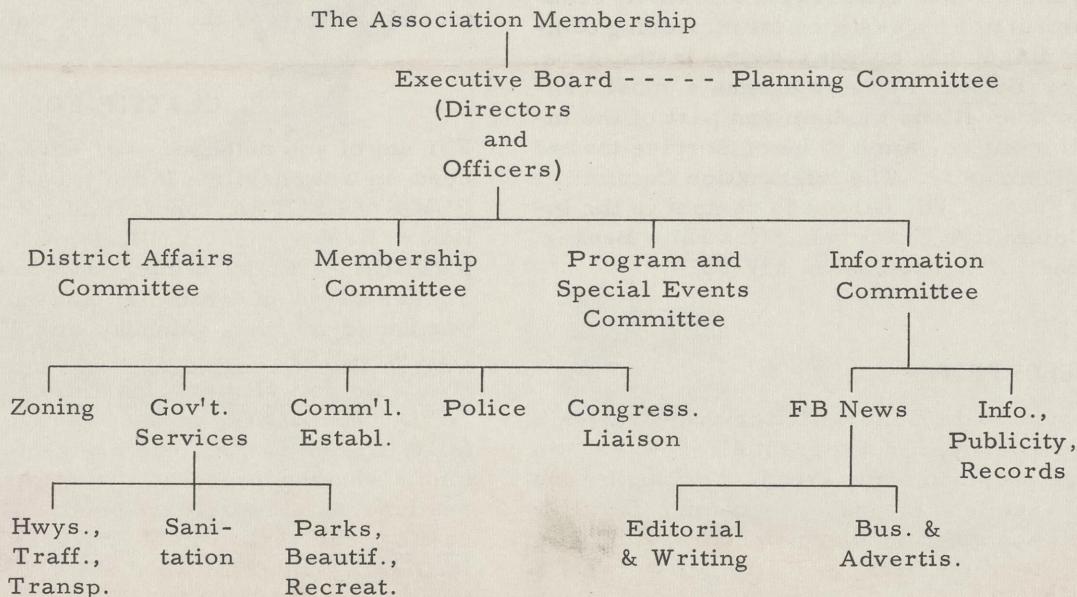

Information: To serve as a center for information of common and individual interest, and to promote and facilitate better communication among and between residents of Foggy Bottom.

FBA MEETING: TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1

Speaker: Richard W. Yeo, Campus Minister for the United Campus Christian Ministry at George Washington University; President of the National Campus Ministry Association.

Topic: "The University and the Association: Opportunities for Education."

Inquiries about the Association may be presented to any of the above; contact Jan Edelstein, 333-4164 or George Kirk, 337-1705 about items and/or advertising for the NEWS. Items may be left in box 416, 950 25th Street, N.W.

THE SENSE OF COMMUNITY

An interesting question is posed in Foggy Bottom: can as diverse a group a people as we are develop a sense of community in the circumstances of Foggy Bottom?

The News believes that it can be done. During the month of October, the Association's Committees have met and discussed the problem in connection with their own specific objectives. The Committees are composed this year in large measure of a new and surprisingly heterogeneous number of talented individuals, and we have heard some extremely creative and constructive suggestions for improving communications among all citizens living in the area.

The Foggy Bottom News, the area's most centralized communications medium and part of the Information Committee, aims to be of service toward this end of Community. The Information Committee invites your ideas. The person to contact is the Information Committee Chairman, Miss Ellie Becker, 940 25th Street, N.W., telephone 337-5528.

THE NEWS NEEDS PEOPLE

The response to the Editor's letter in last month's FBN has been steady, if not torrential. However, we do need more people in some areas. Working for the News is an excellent means of becoming familiar with the area and meeting your neighbors; and News people are often the first ones to know "what's happening" in FB. The Business Staff, in particular, needs advertising and distribution help; the

FAIR HOUSING ASSOCIATION

October 11, 1966

The Editor
Foggy Bottom News
Washington, D.C.

To the Editor:

Here in Foggy Bottom there is a chapter of the Northwest Washington Fair Housing Association, an organization working in a quiet way toward a goal to which many of us aspire. A broad list of names of people supporting this goal of open housing is most urgently needed. Membership is free, and it helps a lot if the organization can claim a substantial membership roll. A $2.00 membership fee is optional; and, needless to say, a few hours of time would be greatly appreciated. However, if your name is all you have to give at the moment, that, too, will be most welcome. We hope people interested will write or call either of us -- soon, if possible.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

PROFILE: FATHER ABBOTT OF ST. MARY'S

FATHER ABBOTT

"It's amazing what can happen when you begin to pray," says the Reverend F. Everett Abbott, and he should know. This dynamic Episcopal minister, Associate Rector of St. Mary's Church in Foggy Bottom, spent most of his life as a successful businessman and executive before turning to the ministry at an age when most men are turning to thoughts of retirement.

Entering the ministry as a grandfather, however, was only one of several unusual turns in life for Abbott (He insists that "Father" Abbott is redundant, since "abbot" means "father" anyway). Once a high school dropout, he is now Episcopal Chaplain to the students of George Washington University. Originally a salesman of books, he has devoted much time in recent years to "selling" the concepts of civil rights and racial equality.

Abbott's unusual story begins in Lynn, Massachusetts, where he was born in 1903. As he grew up, he developed two main interests -- playing football, and writing poetry -- but in high school he was not very good at his studies. In fact, he was finally expelled from school without graduating, as a result of some misbehavior. Remarking that the boy apparently hadn't enough brains for college, his father apprenticed him in the machine shop of the

LETTER TO MARG-ANN BEAUTY SALON

Mrs. Gladys Gilliam
Marg-Ann Beauty Salon
2428 Eye Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20037

Dear Mrs. Gilliam

At the first monthly meeting of the Foggy Bottom Association last night, it was decided that a letter of commendation be sent to you for the fine way in which you have improved the appearance of the Marg-Ann Beauty Salon at the corner of 25th and Eye Streets.

You have retrimmed and resurfaced the building itself. You have built a handsome wrought-iron and masonry fence around the property, put down grass, and planted attractive trees and shrubbery. The entire project has changed an unsightly corner into a pleasant town house and garden -- thoroughly in keeping with the residential character of the surrounding neighborhood.

The association congratulates you on behalf of all Foggy Bottom residents and hopes other operators of commercial establishments in the area will follow your example. These improvements will undoubtedly help your business, as it already helped the morale of the neighborhood.

Sincerely yours,

Alling C. Brown

DISTRICT AFFAIRS

HELP!

Your District Affairs Committee wants to serve you -- but needs your help to do it. Mary Healy of the Government Services subcommittee suggested that the best way for the subcommittee to decide what problems it should tackle was to ask the Association members (and all area residents) what problems in the subcommittee's field seemed important to them. District Affairs chairman Ned Minor thought this was an excellent idea, but thought it should be extended to take in the whole range of District Affairs concerns: zoning, commercial establishments, police relations and Congressional liaison, as well as government services.

Accordingly, so that it can work most effectively for your benefit, the committee asks that you drop a line to the appropriate subcommittee (a note on your kitchen scratch pad will do; or, if you prefer, a telephone call) about anything in the neighborhood that you feel needs correction. Give your ideas on what you think should be done; and if you have been doing any work on it individually, tell how far down the road you are, and what success and difficulties you have had.

It would help if your ideas and suggestions are directed to the "contact" for each subcommittee listed at the end of this article. The insert to this issue is a chart showing the matters each subcommittee is concerned with.

The committee wants to hear from you and promises to give serious consideration to all your ideas. Send complaints and suggestions to the following subcommittee members:

NEWS AND REPORTS

D.A. Subcommittees Report Government Services: Virginia Highway Project

Completion of the Virginia Highway Project is almost at hand! At its October 12 meeting, the Government Services Subcommittee had this to report:

1. The asphalt on the South side of the road, from 27th St. to 24th St., should be completed by the end of this week, and the asphalt work from 27th St. to the park not long afterwards.
2. Top soil and sod will be put in the South rotaries sometime in the next few months.
3. There is only one more island to be done between the People's Like Insurance building and Va. Ave.
4. All of the work should be substantially completed by the end of the month, with the possible exception of the plot where the project engineer's trailer is located (25th and F Sts.). It will be removed shortly after, at which time the area will be paved.
5. The sod will remain until a separate shrubbery contract is let. In all probability the shrubbery will not be put in until next spring. In the meantime, the sod will hold down the dust and dirt.

The traffic lights at 25th St. and Va. Ave. have been turned on in advance of the completion of the project at the request of the committee, which felt that the safety hazard at the intersection had increased so tremendously with the opening of the Safeway.

Police

Captain Bishop of the Third Precinct met with FBA President Alling Brown and the Police Subcommittee on October 12 to discuss continuing plans for the Police-Community Relations program.

Zoning

The subcommittee decided, after investigation, that there was no basis for opposition to the application to continue the variance for the parking lot located at 2325 G Street, N.W. The case was heard on October 12 by the D.C. Zoning Commission, which granted the variance.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE TO BEGIN

The Membership Committee of the FBA will begin an active door-to-door campaign to enroll new members in the Association this coming month. An ASSOCIATION REPRESENTATIVE will call on all home-dwellers on his block to explain the purposes and functions of the Foggy Bottom Association and to ask for active support.

The Committee currently consists of Reverend F. Everett Abbott, Nancy Young, Morella Hansen, Carol Whitcomb, Mrs. Eleanor Yeo, Dorothy Kodrowski and Paul Kennedy. More representatives are needed for the Committee. Anyone interested should call either Father Abbott (337-1738) or Nancy Young (337-6342) for further information.

There is a membership form on Page 8 -- use it, and become a voting member of the FBA.

ST. PAUL'S CELEBRATION STARTS MONDAY WITH EVENSONG SERVICE, SPECIAL MUSIC

The Centennial celebration of the founding of St. Paul's parish will begin on Monday evening, October 31, at 8:00 p.m. Since the parish was created from St. John's, Lafayette Square, St. Paul's has invited St. John's present rector, the Rev. Dr. John C. Harper, to be the preacher on this occasion.

The service will be one of Solemn Evensong, with special music, spanning four centuries of Church composition, sung by the choir of men and boys.

A reception will follow the service, and the general public is cordially invited to attend.

THE BOTTOM GETS A COFFEE HOUSE

With the end of the swimming pool season and the loss of a prime social outlet, a group of Foggy Bottom residents felt the need for another casual gathering place where friends and neighbors could get together. The Coffee Gate, a new coffee house operated by and for (primarily, but not exclusively) Foggy Bottom residents, at 1920-1/2 G Street, N. W. is their answer.

Featuring an intimate atmosphere, live entertainment, and espresso coffee, tea, cider and pastries, the Coffee Gate is open on Fridays from 8 p.m. Hours may be extended in the future as the demand warrants.

firm where he was employed. But the young Abbott was terrified of the machines, which in those days were often unreliable and dangerous, and he spent a good deal of his time "hiding out" in the washroom.

From this inauspicious beginning, Abbott was rescued by a maiden aunt, who was determined to give the lad another chance to achieve academic success. She arranged for him to attend a school that tutored young men to enter Dartmouth College. The teaching staff was excellent, and Abbott passed his exams with high marks, going on to enter Dartmouth. There he played football -- and began failing his courses. At the end of the year he flunked out, and his academic career was over -- at least, for many years to come.

If Abbott learned little in the classrooms of Dartmouth, however, he apparently achieved more on its football field, for after leaving the school he was able to obtain work as a professional football player for the Lynn team on Saturdays at $2 an afternoon. He also took a pick-and-shovel job as a laborer, and the regimen kept him in prime physical condition. He became bored, however, and in an attempt to find more stimulating work he took a job as a $12-per-week stockboy with the publishing firm of Little, Brown & Company. But his ambition was thwarted, for he found that he would never be promoted to salesman because of his illegible handwriting. His stock records at the publishing firm were also judged to be unreadable, and his employer suggested that he find work elsewhere.

This suggestion turned out to be a valuable one, for it launched Abbott on his first successful career. The young man heard of an opening for a junior salesman with the publishing firm of Dodd, Mead in New York, and he obtained the position, at the extraordinary salary of $25 per week. Shortly afterward, he carried off a grand coup, for a junior salesman, by obtaining a large order for books from a department store buyer. He was on his way.

In 1929 Abbott moved to Doubleday, and there met a young lady who was to become his wife the following year. His career prospered, and in the 1930's he became a specialist in analyzing sales problems for a large department store in Newark, N.J. The Abbotts built a home in Short Hills, N.J., and became what he calls "substantial citizens."

By now Abbott was the father of four children, but when World War II came he went off to serve in the Panama Canal Zone as a supply officer in the Army. Returning to civilian life at the end of the war, he realized that in some way he had become dissatisfied with himself, but at first this feeling expressed itself only as a reluctance to go back to his department store career. He worked his way through a variety of other jobs, including one as Executive Vice President of a financial consulting firm.

Then the second major phase of Abbott's life began as he started chauffeuring his children to Episcopal Sunday School. Gradually both he and his wife, Frances, became interested in the church, and they began attending services. However, he acknowledges, this was at least partly because, at that time, this was the "thing to do" in Westchester County, where the family had moved.

Finally, at the age of 45, he was confirmed in the Episcopal Church, and he simultaneously assumed the duties of Sunday School Superintendent. A new rector arrived at the church and hired Mrs. Abbott as parish secretary, thus firmly establishing what was to become a life-long Abbott family tie to the Episcopal Church.

The new rector was John Harper, who was later to become well-known in Washington as rector of St. John's Church, Lafayette Square. One day Reverend Harper heard his Sunday School Superintendent give a religious talk at his daughter's school. Struck with the effectiveness of the talk and the freshness of the ideas, Harper asked Abbott a question -- had he ever considered entering the ministry?

The idea was attractive to Abbott, and he began to study his religion seriously, getting up every day at 4 a.m. to find the necessary time. By now his children were grown, and had children of their own; with his wife's encouragement Abbott enrolled in the General Theological Seminary in New York. This time, there was no sign of his earlier academic difficulties, and the Reverend Abbott was graduated with honors in several subjects.

His first assignment as a clergyman was a small mission parish in the Berkshires. As Abbott was just beginning his third year there, early in 1963, John Harper called from Washington, inviting him to the post of Assistant Rector at St. John's. And so he arrived in the Capital, just in time for the great civil rights march on Washington of August, 1963.

For that march, and also for a later demonstration, St. John's Church served as a rallying point for civil rights workers, and Abbott began to participate vigorously in the movement. He also found that he had to spend some time explaining his role to some of his older and more conservative parishioners. His activities were welcomed by at least one elderly lady, however -- she gave the Church $25,000 to express her approval of its new attitude toward civil rights.

Reverend Abbott moved to St. Mary's Church, on 23rd St., in May of 1965, after the Church had asked the Bishop to find an Associate Rector who could help in dealing with the unusual problems of its parish. For St. Mary's is a formerly all-Negro church which has seen its older members scattering everywhere in the city as the character of the neighborhood has changed. The new high-rise apartments of Foggy Bottom are inhabited almost exclusively by whites, and it has become difficult for St. Mary's to serve, on the one hand, the new Foggy Bottom, and on the other, its old parishioners as well. This is a challenge the Church is determined to meet.

In helping with this problem, Reverend Abbott has become a familiar figure in Foggy Bottom. Active in the FBA (he is Vice-President), he also belongs to the Foggy Bottom Fair Housing Group. And this fall, he became Episcopal Chaplain at GWU -- a job he especially likes. He plans to hold open house for the students every Monday afternoon, and expects this to be an enjoyable part of a career which, he says, will probably be his last.

"IN THE BOTTOM"*Mrs. Powell Retires

Mrs. Florence Powell, Resident Manager of two Foggy Bottom apartment buildings for over 25 years, retired September 30.

Resident Manager of Potomac House, 940 25th Street, since 1964, Mrs. Powell joined the John Safer organization in 1940 and managed 2500 K Street until the building was razed to make room for the "25." The late Mr. Powell was Maintenance Superintendent of John Safer Properties for many years.

Mrs. Powell, who plans to remain in Foggy Bottom, first "retired" in 1957, but at the request of Mr. Safer, she remained "till a replacement could be found." Her friends in Foggy Bottom hope this retirement will be a happy one.

HARDINGS RETURN FROM EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Harding of the Harding Salon of Beauty have just returned from Milan, Italy where they were delegates to the Congress of the Confederation Internationale de la Coiffure. With the delegation from the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, they attended the World Hairdressing Competition, the "Olympics of the hairdressing world."
